

Friday Morning Fire Inspirational Message

“Don’t Let It Shake You”

Scripture: Hebrews 12:28 (NLT)

“Since we are receiving a Kingdom that is unshakable, let us be thankful and please God by worshiping him with holy fear and awe.”

Good morning, family!

As you step into this Friday, I need you to hear this clearly:

Everything that’s shaking around you is not meant to shake you.

There are seasons when life feels like it’s moving under your feet—situations shifting...
people changing...
plans unraveling...

But the writer of Hebrews reminds us of something powerful:

We are not standing on what’s shaking— we are standing in what cannot be shaken.

The job might feel uncertain...
the diagnosis might feel overwhelming...
the economy might feel unstable...

But your God is still steady.
Your foundation is still firm.
Your future is still secure.

 Here it is—don’t miss this:

God will allow things to shake around you just to reveal what’s solid within you.

Some things are shaking so they can fall off.
Some things are shaking so they can line up.

And some things are shaking so you can finally see that you've been standing on God all along.

So today, make this declaration:

"I will not be shaken by what I see, because I'm secured by what God said!"

Walk into this day with confidence.

Walk into this weekend with expectation.

Because what God placed in you is stronger than what's happening around you.

Closing Declaration - Final Charge

Don't panic... praise.

Don't fear... focus.

Don't fold... stand firm.

You're still here.

You're still standing.

And that means God is not finished yet!

Prayer

Lord, thank You for being our unshakable foundation.

When life feels uncertain, anchor us in Your truth.

Give us strength to stand, faith to trust, and courage to move forward.

In Jesus' name, Amen.
